Hi folks,

We did set up a dedicated site for the spill we were dealing with in Honolulu, included basic background and a “store house” for our press releases/photos/updates:

Subject: Example of possible Spill Situation update

Hi folks,

Did an initial press release, then started to do a "Response Update", that would go when I got the next OSC SitRep, so the timing was based on the latest SitRep. I ended up creating a "template" with basic background information that would stay the same from update to update, but included the newest developments at the beginning of the update.

Noticed it helped a bit with the number of press calls as the update pushed out the latest info ahead of their calls/questions.

Hope this helps!!!

Thanks!
